Clergymen and Others Combat Project as Detrimental to Reputation of Town.

con by Way to Reno" will not be summer by the sporting fraternity of Westeriy Saturday. The manager of Bliven's opera house had arranged and advertised the showing of pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson fight at Reno for Saturday afternoon and evening at special prices. A wide storm of public protest was made against the proposed exhibition. At short notice the clergy and members of the religious orders of the town began an energetic campaign against the proposed exhibition.

A special meeting of the town council was called for Wednesday evening, and there were present some fifty women and men to utter emphatic protest. There was just a quorum present when Chairman Clark called the meeting to order. Clergymen left their prayer meetings or adjourned them early to be present, while the congregations in some cases stayed and prayed for the success of the protest.

The clergymen present included Rev. F. C. A. Jones of the Calvary Baptist church, Rev. S. M. Cathcart of the Congregational church, Rev. A. C. McGilton of the Methodist church, Rev. A. C. McGilton of the Methodist church, Rev. J. L. Peacock. Rev. Mr. Jones protest.

Superintendent of Schools M Holmes spoke against the pictures in behalf of the school children.

Mrs. Dr. Waite presented a petition from the Avondale branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance union protesting against the granting of the license.

Mr. Bliven alone spoke in favor of the show, claiming that the sentiment against the pictures was purely on the colored question and that it was prompted by the same spirit which caused the stoning of Rhode Island caused the stoning of Rhode Island Pagiments when they passed through Baltimore at the time of the Civil war. Mr. Bliven as manager claimed that the council had no authority to revoke his yearly license, which he claimed covered the whole year.

G. B. Utter said that he saw the pictures and that they were not at all bad. These two were only ones protesting.

In rebuttal to Mr. Bliven's claims.

Four members of the council seemed reluctant to take a vote on the question but voted to adjourn. The town solicitor, Mr. Agard, advised the council that under the circumstances Mr. Bliven, the manager of the opera house, had no license to give the moving pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson fight. When asked what he would do in case Mr. Bliven exhibited the pictures without a license, he advised that it was up to the police committee to decide the matter. The public sentiment as indicated by the presence of clergymen and others seemed to be opposed to the showing of the pictures. It is probable that Mr. Bliven will decide not to give the picture will decide not to give the picture will decide not to give the picture.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Baptist church gave a fine supper in the church parlors Wednesday from 5 to 8 p. m. The bill of fare was clam chowder, pie, cake, tea and coffee, and ice cream. A large crowd attended. Thomas P. Kinney was the guest of friends in Hartford Tuesday.
